HE'LL STAY HOME THIS TIME — Mrs. Wilma Zamorski, Moline, Ill., puts handcuffs into play to make sure her husband, Lucien, doesn't get away from her, in New York. She met him Thursday as he arrived from Indonesia where he was interned for two months. A Ford Foundation scholar, he was making recordings of native music when arrested last May. The couple last saw each other a year and a half ago. The handcuffs were a gag but might prove practical.

British Planes Again Hit Rebels

Fort In Oman Blasted By Rockets, Shells

LONDON (AP)—Royal air force Venom fighter-bombers attacked rebel strongholds in Oman today for the third straight day, according to dispatches reaching British newspapers.

These reports said the planes fired rockets and cannon shells into a fort at Tanuf, seven miles from rebel headquarters at Nizwa, after expiration of a 48-hour warning. The dispatches said the Tanuf fort was deserted when the planes hit it.

Earlier in the day, Britain angrily denied charges that RAF planes were attacking civilians—and bypassing military targets—in the raids against rebel strongholds.

A Foreign Office statement described as "pure invention" statements issued in Cairo by a representative of the rebel leader, Imam Ghaleb Bin Ali, alleging there were civilian casualties in RAF strikes against Nizwa, capital of the remote Arabian Peninsula sultanate.

Britain says it sent planes against rebellious tribesmen at the request of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Official statements in London have said RAF sorties were carried out against rebel-held forts in Izki and Nizwa, Wednesday and Thursday, but only after the RAF gave the Imam's followers 48 hours to clear out. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told Parliament Thursday no casualties were observed after the raids.

Today's statement was issued shortly after Lloyd conferred with U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

Cleveland Family Survives Plane Crash

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A Cleveland, Ohio family of three was recuperating in a hospital here today from injuries suffered when their plane crashed Wednesday night on the slopes of Mt. Mitchell.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Wloszek and their daughter, Janet, 3. Most seriously injured was the latter, who suffered a broken left leg. Mrs. Wloszek received a broken nose.

They were en route to Asheville for a convention. Wloszek said the plane crashed into trees on the mountainside traveling about 100 miles an hour when it was caught in a downdraft.

The four-place plane was heavily damaged but the three were able to spend the night in it. Wloszek said they had decided to stay at the crash scene for two days and then start walking if they hadn't been spotted.

They left Charleston, W. Va., Wednesday afternoon and were scheduled to arrive at Asheville-Hendersonville Airport at 6 p. m. Wloszek, a pilot for 15 years, radioed Tri-City Airport at Bristol, Tenn. at 5:19 p. m. for weather information. That was the last radio message from him.

The plane was reported missing when it failed to land here on schedule.

Detroit Suburb Mayor Critical After Shooting

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor James Tierney, 52, of suburban Garden City, was in critical condition with six bullet wounds in his body today while a disgruntled contractor was held at a secret hideout for fear of violence against him.

Tierney was shot in the chest, abdomen and groin Thursday night at a City Hall planning commission meeting.

City Atty. Russell Swarthout, 34, was struck in the hand in the shooting spree.

Police Chief Arthur Nagle identified Tierney's assailant as 6-foot, 3-inch, 300-pound Lester Ellerhorst, 32, a Garden City contractor and board chairman of Gypsum Constructors, Inc.

Nagle said witnesses told him Ellerhorst, whose firm constructed a controversial Garden City police station, walked into the meeting, shouted "You are a thief" at Tierney and began shooting. The city had filed suit against Ellerhorst, charging inferior materials were used.

Nagle said Ellerhorst ran from the room after emptying his .22 caliber pistol, then called police and surrendered.

Ellerhorst was being held at an undisclosed location for investigation in the shooting. Asst. Prosecutor John Mowatt said he feared there might be violence when a crowd of some 300 gathered in front of City Hall after the shooting.

Mowatt said Ellerhorst refused to make a statement about the shooting.

The shooting followed recent criticism by Tierney and Swarthout of the city's new $108,000 police station which they called a "white elephant."

Swarthout's suit against Ellerhorst's firm alleges inferior materials were used in the station and that its cost was more than double that of any similar building.

The suit also contends the building is not suitable for use as a police station.

School Aid Bill Sponsor Blames Defeat On Ike

Strong Statement By President Was Needed, Kelly Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Augustine B. Kelly (D-Pa.), author of the $1.5-billion dollar school aid bill killed by the House, blamed President Eisenhower today for its defeat.

Other Democratic supporters joined him in partisan criticism, but two Republicans who also favored the bill disagreed.

"I lay defeat of the bill squarely at the feet of the President," Kelley told a reporter.

"I think if he had come out with a strong statement we could have won—we only lost by five votes."

On the other side, Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.), a strong backer of the bill, said, "I think the President did all he reasonably could."

'Combination' Is Blamed
And Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), GOP floor leader for the bill, blamed "a combination of things" for the measure's second defeat in two years.

Eisenhower has made a federal school aid program a major plank in his legislative platform for several years. But he let it be known earlier this week he was "not entirely satisfied" with the bill the House was considering, although he would sign the measure if Congress passed it.

After the House vote Thursday, press secretary James C. Hagerty said the White House would have no comment.

By a 206-203 roll call vote, the House adopted a motion by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) to strike out the enacting clause of the bill—in effect, kill it.

That vote confirmed an earlier tentative vote, 133-126, to kill the bill.

Seals Measure's Doom
The House sealed the measure's doom earlier by attaching an anti-segregation amendment offered by Rep. Wainwright (R-N.Y.). This came by a 136-105 standing vote. It would have denied the proposed federal aid to any school district operating segregated schools in violation of the Supreme Court's integration ruling.

Both Democratic and Republican backers of federal aid to school construction said it was dead now for a long time.

"I think it's lost for good," Kelley said. "That was the second effort in two years."

Last year the House defeated a similar measure by a 224-194 vote, also after tacking on an anti-segregation amendment.

The bill would have distributed 300 million dollars a year for five years to the states, allotting half on the basis of school age population and half on the basis of financial need.

McConnell told the House Eisenhower would have preferred a formula with more emphasis on need, but realized that compromise must enter into legislation.

Rep. McCormack (Mass), Democratic floor leader, told the House the vote breakdown would be of interest to the people of the country. He noted 97 Democrats and 111 Republicans voted to kill the bill while 126 Democrats and 77 Republicans voted to keep it alive.

29 Inches Of Rains Falls In 24 Hours

253 Are Dead, 800 Missing As Flood Hits Island In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A violent storm which in 24 hours dumped 29 inches of rain on low-lying, thickly populated areas of Japan's southernmost major island left at least 253 persons dead today and more than 800 missing or unaccounted for.

There were 106 known injured. Relief workers in the area said the government casualty figures were conservative. They predicted the death toll would run into the thousands.

Tokyo newspaper correspondents radioed from the flood area on Kyushu Island that at least 1,000 persons died in the city of Isahaya, 15 miles northeast of Nagasaki, and that scores may have perished in Omura, a port a few miles away.

A reporter who flew over the area said Isahaya, a mountain-ringed city of 57,000, looked "like a new sea" with only a few high points and roofs visible above the water.

"It seemed like someone had dumped the contents of a lake on us from a giant barrel," said one Isahaya survivor who was dragged to safety from the debris-choked river that flooded and poured over the city.

Railroads were washed out or blocked by landslides. Highways were closed. Thousands of homes were washed away or flooded.

The 29-inch rainfall was one of the worst rainstorms in Japan's recorded weather. The rain and accompanying violent lightning disrupted communications, leaving many areas isolated except for intermittent radio contact.

The storm began Thursday morning, let up for a few hours late in the day, and then—in the words of one survivor at Isahaya: "Suddenly an angry bolt of lightning cut the sky. Pounding thunder followed. Then the rains came. Not just by buckets full. It seemed like someone had dumped the contents of a lake on us from a giant barrel."

As the rain increased, flood-plane fragments they might solve the puzzle.

Missing was S. F. Binstock, 62, a retired North Hollywood, Calif., jeweler, last seen when he entered the plane's washroom early Thursday.

He had boarded the Los Angeles bound plane earlier at Las Vegas, Nev. Binstock was insured for $125,000.

Other passengers on Western Airlines twin-engine Convair were frightened by a loud noise about 45 minutes later, as the plane cruised at 10,000 feet over the California desert.

One man said it sounded like an explosion—"A hell of a noise." The aircraft safely made an emergency landing at George Air Force Base, near here. The FBI and other agencies quickly stepped in.

What really happened? Officials frankly don't know. Not yet. Some, who declined to be quoted, offered this speculation:

1. It was an explosive decompression of the plane's pressurized cabin, possibly caused by bullets fired through the fuselage.

2. Structural failure might have opened up the lavatory wall, spewing Binstock into the night.

3. It was a blast from a detonated device.

Civil Aeronautics Board investigators today began putting together the plane fragments found in the rugged Ord mountains about 50 miles northwest of here. It was in this same general area Air Force helicopters searched for Binstock's body.

"When we recover the body and piece together the wreckage we should have a good idea what caused the explosion," a government man said.

On Wednesday, before he flew from southern California to Las Vegas, Binstock purchased two $62,300 insurance policies naming his wife beneficiary. He entered the lavatory shortly after the Convair took off for the return trip from Las Vegas and was never seen again.

Four Others Acquitted As Long Trial Ends

Quintet Conspired To Cheat Commission Of $19½ Million

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Five men were convicted Thursday night of conspiracy to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of 19½ million dollars by allegedly drilling countless "unnecessary" holes to fill in abandoned mines along the superhighway's right-of-way.

Four other men were acquitted in the case that Gov. George M. Leader has said involved one of "the greatest public swindles of all time."

One of the convicted men was former Turnpike Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, Pa., and another was his nephew Charles W. Stickler Jr., president of a Reading, Pa., engineering firm formed in 1952 with $1,800 capital and worth a stock value four years later of more than a million dollars.

Trial Lasted 42 Days
After a 42-day trial—longest in Dauphin County history, the verdicts were read nervously by jury foreman Harvey Pennell, a 73-year-old retired Williamsport coal miner. The panel of seven men and five women deliberated 3 hours 43 minutes.

Evans and suspended Turnpike Commissioner James F. Torrance of Export, like Evans a Republican, were convicted of conspiracy and of misconduct in office. Found guilty of conspiracy and false pretense were Stickler and Clayton A. Landslide, former general manager and vice president of Stickler's engineering firm, Manumine Research and Development Co. Paul J. McNeill, former chief finance officer of the commission, was convicted of conspiracy.

The turnpike case developed from an investigation after the Democratic administration

Johnny Dio Found Guilty Of Shakedown

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor racketeer Johnny Dio was found guilty Thursday night in a $30,000 union shakedown conspiracy. He faces up to two years in prison.

An all-male "blue ribbon" jury found Dio and two union leaders guilty after 23 hours of deliberation, spread over two nights and two days.

Convicted with Dio were Samuel Goldstein, 41, president of Local 239 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Max Chester, 41, former financial secretary of Local 405 of the Retail Clerks International Assn.

Dio, a 43-year-old ex-convict, also faces a federal charge that he was the mastermind in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Dio, Goldstein and Chester were charged with a deal to get the $30,000 from two jointly owned electroplating firms as the price of "labor peace." Two partners in the firms testified for the prosecution that $10,000 was actually paid out.

Both rulers have reacted coolly to Bourguiba's ouster of the old Bey, a brother monarch although he had been a French puppet for years. But that attitude is expected to change with time. Bourguiba told the Assembly he would be no reprisals against the deposed ruler's of his family. He also made clear he has nothing against monarchy as an institution.

The 75-year-old Bey and his immediate family were hustled into a limousine and driven away under heavy police escort to a villa assigned to him near Bardo. The Bey's palace at Carthage is expected to become the official residence of the President.

Nov. 53, Bourguiba has been a revolutionary almost all his adult life. He received degrees in law and political science in Paris and immediately returned home to start fighting for independence for the then French protectorate.

Gentleman Farmer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I can think of nothing better for anybody than a busy life on a farm," said Jimmy Cagney, whose 75 movie roles enabled him to become a country gentleman.

"It's the most natural way to live. It's not so far removed from reality."

"I've been country-crazy myself since I was 5."

Gentleman Jim, the farmer, had to fight his way out from city streets to a place on the land.

Born in Manhattan's Lower East Side, son of an Irish saloonkeeper who died young, Cagney went to work as a copy boy for the old New York Sun at 14. His first job in the theater was impersonating a chorus girl.

He knew many a lean year as a vaudeville hooper and Broadway actor before he won film immortality in 1940 by grinding a grapefruit in Mae Clark's face in "Public Enemy." Then came the golden deluge. But Jimmy, who was making $150,000 a picture as long ago as 1937, is glad that neither his son, James, Jr., 17, nor his daughter, Cathleen, shows any interest in show business.

"It's a rough life," said the little redhead who graduated years ago from the roughneck roles that first won him fame.

"My boy is interested in farm genetics and Cathleen all her life has wanted to be a veterinarian. That suits me fine."

Cagney, who still dances daily to keep in shape, has plenty of pavement-free land now to rest his feet on. He has a 600-acre horse ranch in California, a 700-acre dairy farm with 90 cows near Millbrook, N. Y., and a 200-acre estate on Martha's Vineyard, where he likes to spend the summer just watching the grass grow.

Jimmy takes his farming seriously. He's trying to cross-breed Scottish highland cattle with conventional dairy cows to produce cattle "that need no barning and no winter feeding."

"The goal is a cow with a built-in thermometer," he said.

Jimmy has just completed "Man of a Thousand Faces," a Universal-International film that tells the life story of Lon Chaney, who, like Cagney himself, began his career as a hooper.

"In order to be a roofer," he remarked, "there has to be something the matter with you. Nobody else would be in a theater at 3 a.m., day after day, beating his brains out with his feet. But I see myself as a superannuated song and dance man, really."

One reason may be the fact that, although he has played a wide variety of dramatic roles, it was his portrayal of George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" that won him an Academy award.

Like many veteran performers ruled by a real understanding of showmanship rather than egotism or vanity, Cagney now limits himself to no more than two films a year.

"It's a great mistake to show the face too often," he said. "Let them see you too often, and I don't care who the individual is, he'll go by the boards."

Three Of Rubber Industry's 'Big Four' Sign With Union

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three of the rubber industry's "Big Four" have reached agreement with the United Rubber Workers union on a new contract. The fourth is expected to settle within the next few days.

Last Monday, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. established the pattern by agreeing to a package increase of 15 cents an hour.

Thursday night B. F. Goodrich Co. and the United States Rubber Co., agreed to similar 15-cent packages.

Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., the remaining member of rubber's "Big Four," is still negotiating with the union in Canton, Ohio. But settlement, along the same lines as the other agreements, is expected soon.

Goodrich reached agreement with the union at negotiations here. The contract covers 13,500 workers in Akron and Marion, Ohio; Cadillac, Mich.; Clarksville, Tenn.; Los Angeles; Miami, Okla.; Oaks, Pa.; Riverside, N. J.; and Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The Goodrich contract provides a 15-cent package, with part of the amount to go for increased night shift bonuses in some plants. Another part of the package will be used to reduce "intra-plant inequities."

The United States Rubber Co.'s contract gives the entire 15 cents an hour to a general wage increase, and covers about 26,000 workers in 18 plants at Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Eau Claire, Wis.; Philadelphia; Los Angeles, Nautuck, Conn.; Mishawaka, Ind.; Providence, R. I.; North Bergen, N. J.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Chicago, Milan, Tenn.; and Santa Ana, Calif.

The Goodyear settlement reached Monday came just two hours before a strike deadline. It provided that all but 1/2 cent of the 15-cent package be applied to a general wage increase. The 1/2 cent will be used to increase night shift differentials. It brought the average hourly pay to $2.54 for about 24,000 workers.

L. S. Buckmaster, general president of the union, said at union headquarters in Akron that he was "certainly thankful we have been able to settle the wage issue without dispute."

He said the union is now "engaged in a catching up effort."

"We are forced to make an effort to keep up with the cost of living or the standard of living of our members would deteriorate," he said.

Governor Asks 'Rain Prayers'

Massachusetts Drought Continues

BOSTON (AP)—Residents of Massachusetts were asked today to pray for rain in a proclamation by Gov. Foster Furcolo, who described a two-month drought as "increasing in alarming proportions."

At the same time, the Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, Catholic archbishop of Boston, directed priests in his jurisdiction to recite a prayer for rain in their daily Masses.

With no appreciable rain forecast, drastic water restrictions were expected to be imposed on 2½ million persons in the 27 cities and towns in metropolitan Boston as the only means of protecting public health and safety.

The curbs would stop car washing, the filling of swimming pools and limit all forms of outdoor use of water.

The State Department of Public Health has declared a water shortage emergency in 32 other Bay State cities and towns. This permits local water boards to shut off the supply of persons who disregard conservative directives.

Gov. Furcolo also directed the extension of rain-making operations to 11 drought-stricken sectors. At present cloud-seeding apparatus is set up only in Bristol and Plymouth counties.

Ohio Edison, Union Reach Wage Agreement

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Some 760 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in ten cities will be asked to approve a 5.1 per cent wage agreement negotiated with the Ohio Edison Co.

Union negotiators said Thursday night that the agreement provides for a 14-cent-an-hour wage raise and increases average straight-time earnings to $2.41 an hour.

Negotiated under a wage reopening clause and made retroactive to July 1, the agreement must be approved by the union's membership before it takes effect.

A similar agreement with Ohio Edison was accepted by the 2,000-member utility workers joint council on June 30.

IBEW locals which must approve the agreement are: local 178, Massillon; local 509, Elyria; local 638, Marion; local 114; Warren; local 1194, Port Clinton-Sandusky; local 1237, Alliance; and local 1252, Mansfield.

Cairo Building Falls; 63 Persons Killed

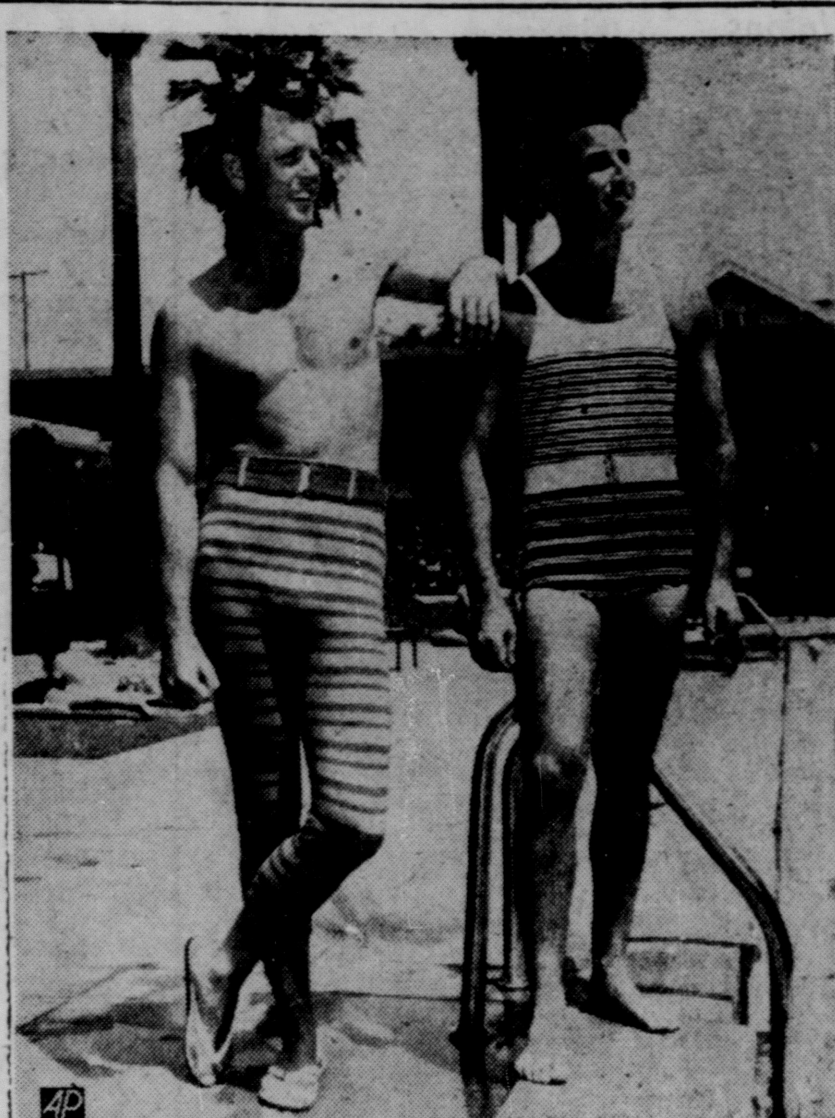

CAIRO (AP)—A five-story building collapsed Thursday night on 200 persons celebrating a wedding, killing 63 and injuring 32.

Fatma, the veiled bride in a white wedding dress, was among those killed. Her bridegroom Mansour Abdel Hamid was seriously injured.

Police said the two lower floors of the house were more than 70 years old and the government ordered them pulled down two years ago. Instead the owner challenged the order and added three more stories. The building was located on a lane six yards wide in the popular Bab el Ahmar residential district.

Coke Oven Gas Blamed For Discoloring Houses

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Gas from coke ovens was cited as the main cause of a chemical smog that has discolored the paint on almost 100 houses in nearby Struthers, a state health department representative, said Thursday. Richard Schaefer, an engineer in the industrial hygiene division of the Ohio Department of Health, said hydrogen sulphide gas generated in the coke ovens of nearby mills was causing the discoloration.

SEEK TAX RENEWAL CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Petitions asking renewal of the sixtenths of one per cent city income tax will be placed on the ballot this November, James Secombe of the Stark County Board of Elections said Thursday. Two petitions were presented, Secombe said, calling for renewal of one half the tax for city hall and other improvements and the other half for operating expenses and capital expenditures.

Veterans Guide

Applicants having problems in connection with their claims for the Ohio Korean compensation were advised today to seek the assistance of local county bonus representatives and fulltime service officers.

This was suggested by Chester W. Goble, director of the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund, who said most of the county soldiers relief commissions and veterans organizations are now prepared to handle many of the questions now being received by mail and telephone at bonus headquarters.

The veterans service officer for Columbiana County is Wallace E. King at the Courthouse in Lisbon and for Mahoning County the service officer is Charles C. Davis of Youngstown Courthouse.

All checks received by Ohio Korean bonus applicants are for the full settlement of their claim for their military service between June 25, 1950 and July 19, 1953, unless the check is accompanied by a statement from the bonus director indicating otherwise, Goble said.

Moscow 'Youth' Festival

There has been no official notice of its passing in the United States, but there is a noticeable absence of fear that the Communist conspiracy may find easy going among young Americans.

The thought comes to mind in connection with the sixth Youth and Student Festival in Moscow the next two weeks. Although some 200 U.S. students are going to attend the festival, despite warning by the State Department that it is a propaganda show, no one is deeply concerned about the propaganda impact on their young minds.

The Communist conspiracy long since has lost the glitter that attracted young Americans in Whittaker Chambers' generation. There is a singular sameness about its "converts" and fellow-travelers of that era.

They were drawn to Marxism at a time when individualism and self-reliance had been put on the defensive by their elders during the troubled '20s and '30s. They were looking for a new hope to replace the hope that had been shattered by the depression years in America.

They did not find new hope in Russian Communism; they were as frustrated by it as they had been by disappointment in their own system. Today, they are middle-aged. They have not been replaced by a following generation of young Americans.

Russian Communism, itself, has grown middle-aged and disenchanted. It has shown in Hungary that it cannot command the support of young minds. It has shown everywhere that it is hard-bitten and cynical—not an ideology at all but a system of state-imposed discipline imposed by aging reactionaries defending the privileges of power.

High Price Of Eating

The latest rise in the consumer price index—another one-half of one per cent—reflects the steadily rising cost of eating more than any other single factor.

The irony of this is that the cost of food, as far as food producers are concerned, still is too low. Prices received by farmers have been rising slowly but steadily since their postwar low in 1956, but they still are not close to the place where agriculture's parity ratio would be satisfactory.

The parity ratio, as determined by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is the ratio of prices received by farmers to prices paid by farmers, including interest, taxes and wages rates. It reached an average of 82 last year, compared with its all-time high of 115 in 1947. Despite the rising price of food, the ratio this year has stood at 82 or less, because prices paid by farmers have been rising at the same rate as prices received.

Much of the increase in food prices is accounted for by increases in costs of processing and handling. These are of no benefit to producers of food. Yet they cause food producers' costs to rise, because every time the consumer index goes up the cost of everything farmers buy inches upward too.

The surest way to reverse the upward trend of the consumer index would be to reverse the upward trend of food prices. But if this were done at the expense of food producers, it would be an economic disaster. They are barely holding their own as it is.

Service Evolution

The inconvenience and expense of automotive breakdowns on ordinary highways are multiplied many times in breakdowns on turnpikes. Complaints about long delays and steep prices charged by private towing truck operators on the Ohio Turnpike have been made frequently.

Eventually, a system will evolve to handle this particular problem. The Ohio Turnpike Commission should be able to learn something from other commissions, just as they aim to learn all they can about the way Ohio operates its fine toll road.

One possibility that suggests itself, in view of the fact the Ohio Turnpike cannot be used without payment, is inclusion in the payment at the user's option of a premium for official Turnpike towing service, if he asked for it. The Turnpike Commission would end its responsibility and private enterprise would take over at the nearest interchange, unless the user preferred to call for private towing service to the point of the breakdown.

The user then could not blame the Turnpike Commission for his breakdown troubles. He would be delivered to the closest interchange, pay the Turnpike Commission what he owed and make his own arrangements about further service and repair.

Waiters and tramps have one thing in common—they live by a hand out.

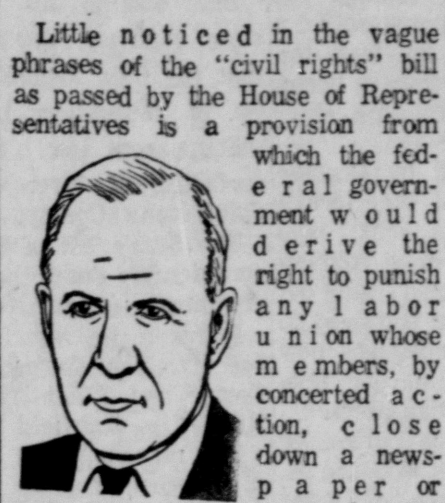

When you're going to an average benefit dinner it's smart to eat a bite before you leave home.

If a father hadn't been one himself he wouldn't worry half so much about his son.

House Bill On Civil Rights Covers News Agencies

David Lawrence station or plant that prints publications.

The First Amendment, which hitherto has been interpreted to mean only that no state can take any action which abridges the freedom of the press, could be invoked so that the activities of private individuals in closing down a publishing or broadcasting company would become a matter for the United States to challenge as a party at interest.

Hitherto there has been no way to proceed against persons who might engage in a conspiracy to shut down a newspaper but under the much-talked-of Sec. 3—which can still be enacted if the House insists on it in conference—the federal government would be authorized to enter such disputes and act in behalf of private persons whose rights were denied.

ASIDE FROM the right of all citizens to vote, the pending "civil rights" bill is designed to defend the individual whose constitutional rights may be infringed by any state action or by anyone else.

Up to now, it has been the rule that the federal government could not intervene to protect freedom of the press unless the injury was inflicted by state action.

There was no way of proceeding against individuals or organizations like labor unions.

The "civil rights" bill, however as passed by the House, is intended to permit the federal government, through the Department of Justice, to take up the cudgels against private citizens who interfere with the exercise of any constitutional right whatsoever.

Merely by substituting, for the name of the aggrieved party to the suit, the name of the United States, the Department of Justice can enter the proceedings.

This means that, while any citizen might himself refrain from working, he could not engage in a concerted plan with one or more persons to bring about a strike that impaired a constitutional right.

A strike could then be regarded as a conspiracy on the part of two or more persons to interfere with the freedom to publish.

Thus, in 1953, when there was a strike among the New York City newspapers, some unions which had contracts and which were not directly involved in the dispute walked out and forced the closing of the plants.

A case of breach of contract might have been made under state laws but Department of Justice officials said at the time there was no way the federal government could become a party to any proceeding to punish the conspiracy.

NOW, HOWEVER, everything is to be changed if the bill, as finally passed, retains the provisions which permit the attorney general to intervene whenever any constitutional right is impaired.

Another important right that would be strengthened by the "civil rights" bill relates to the position of the minority of workers in any plant—not necessarily in the publishing business.

The Taft-Hartley Act, for instance, gives the worker the right to refrain from joining a union, or, if he is a union member, to choose not to join with the strikers in ceasing work.

If the union majority or its agents should attempt to force a reluctant employee to stay away from work or if he is injured because he refuses to join the strike, the present federal "civil rights" statutes relating to conspiracies might possibly be invoked, assuming, of course, that there were two or more persons acting concertedly to deprive the employee of his rights.

UP TO NOW, it has been a question whether the federal government would intervene to protect the minority of employees in such circumstances.

When a constitutional right is infringed, however, under the pending "civil rights" bill as passed by the House, the attorney general is directed to get an injunction to restrain individuals or organizations and to insist that, without jury trial, any offenders against the injunction be punished by the judge.

So the proposed "civil rights" legislation is, in some of its aspects, a throwback to the days of "government by injunction."

The labor unions fought this strenuously in previous years and now will find the way opened to its restoration.

New York Herald Tribune

Mustard Plaster

By TRUMAN TWILL

A hot mustard plaster has been slapped on a sore place in the automotive setup by The Wall Street Journal. The Journal is so good at this sort of thing it always gets attention.

The sore place is service, which has been getting sore year by year as auto manufacturers added and consumers demanded more wiggits and gadgets on their go-devils.

Just as the "improvements" in body designs have raised hob with insurance rates, complications in the mechanisms of cars have been boosting maintenance overhead.

Not only have service costs been growing, but the available supply of mechanics who have kept abreast of the complications has been shrinking relative to the ever-growing number of automobiles.

According to The Wall Street Journal's sizeup, complaints from car owners are being echoed by car dealers, who get the blame when owners are made unhappy by big repair bills for unsatisfactory work that should not have had to be done at all if someone hadn't goofed.

The dealers are doing their best they can with the means they have available, but as recently as this year's convention of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. they were told by a scheduled speaker about a survey indicating they were laying an egg 91 per cent of the time by making customers sore.

With still further radical changes in cars coming up in the 1958 models, the problem will get worse before it can get better. Perhaps nothing can be done about it. It may be one of the inevitable headaches that are the price of all progress. But customers—and dealers—are not going to be reconciled to it if the headache keeps getting worse.

There must be a point in progress where designers and manufacturers become answerable to owners and distributors. Changes that are made solely for the sake of change would be justifiably only if the modern automobile were still a luxury.

It is a necessity, however. It is indispensable. Anything which adds needlessly to its cost is open to challenge as an uneconomic factor.

Granted that the problem is aggravated by sharp practices in pursuit of the fast buck, there is something awry in the automotive setup when even its dedicated members point with alarm to Detroit-created problems for which they have no solutions.

Every long-term car owner can recall models which gave complete satisfaction. There have been cars constructed so soundly and so simply that a handyman could do his own doctoring for ordinary illnesses. They left nothing to be desired.

Today's cars have become so tricky and complicated that master mechanics must hump themselves to keep them ticking. If this is the price of progress, it suggests that progress can be overpriced. The Wall Street Journal says Detroit is aware of this doubt about progress, too, but has nothing special in mind for doing anything about it.

As a starter, it might give each customer a screw driver, a pair of pliers, a wrench and a bottle of sedatives. He could take the sedatives while trying to find something simple enough on his flossed-up go-devil to tinker with a screw driver, a pair of pliers and a wrench.

Ike's Silence Killed School Bill

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Eisenhower had lifted a finger to fight for the federal aid to education bill, it seems certain he could have saved it. At the showdown he sat silent although he had been calling for federal aid since 1953.

The result: A majority of his Republicans did Thursday exactly what they did last year. They teamed up with Southern Democrats to kill the bill in the House. Republicans who favored the bill are sore at Eisenhower's performance.

If three Republicans had switched their votes, the bill would have been saved. The vote was 208 to kill it, 203 to save it.

Eisenhower not only didn't plug for the bill. He indirectly gave support to those who wanted to demolish it by letting it be known that, while he'd sign the bill if it passed, he wasn't satisfied with it.

The Republican majority tactics Thursday were:

First, they joined Northern Democrats in voting an anti-segregation amendment into the bill— withholding federal money from segregated schools — and then switched over to join Southern Democrats in killing the measure altogether.

Two of the three top Republicans in the House voted to kill the bill last year and again Thursday. They were Representatives Charles Halleck (Ind.), assistant Republican leader, and Leslie Arends (Ill.), Republican whip.

Rep. Joseph Martin (Mass.), the No. Republican in the House, voted for the bill Thursday as he did in 1956.

Eisenhower, since 1953, has repeatedly called for some kind of federal aid to get schools built. He has urged action both in his State of the Union messages and in special messages to Congress. The Republican campaign platform of 1956 called for federal aid to schools.

While the bill which went before the House this year was not exactly the kind Eisenhower wanted, it was the only one which had a chance of passage this year.

This is an example of how some help from Eisenhower might have saved the bill, if it only took the form of a brief message to the House or pressure on no more than three leading House Republicans: Halleck, Arends and Rep. Edward Rees (Kan.).

While the final vote to kill the bill was 208-203, during the roll call Rees voted for the bill. Before the final tally he changed his vote to "no." Rees is a veteran of 20 years in the House.

Following are the votes on the anti-segregation amendment and on the bill itself in 1956 and Thursday:

The anti-segregation amendment: 1956—For the amendment: 148 Republicans, 77 Democrats (total, 225). Against the amendment: 46 Republicans, 146 Democrats (total, 192).

Thursday for the amendment, 16. Against, 105. Unlike the 1956 roll-call vote, Thursday's vote was a standing one which did not list the members by name.

But reporters who cover the House every day and recognize the members by sight said the lineup for the anti-segregation amendment was the same as last year: Republicans and Northern Democrats.

For killing the bill: 1956 — 119 Republicans and 105 Democrats (total, 224) voted to kill the bill. (In the House the 11 Southern states have 106 seats.) Voting for the bill were 75 Republicans (compared with the 148 Republicans who voted for the anti-segregation amendment) and 119 Democrats (compared with 77 Democrats who voted for the amendment).

Thursday—111 Republicans and 97 Democrats (87 of whom were from the South)—for a total of 208 voted to kill the bill. Voting to save it were 77 Republicans and 126 Democrats (total, 203).

Zhukov's Faux Pas

By VICTOR LASKY

If Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov really wants an invitation to Washington, he's going about it in a mighty peculiar way.

Just two days after President Eisenhower indicated at his press conference he might not have any objection to a Zhukov visit, the Soviet Army newspaper, Red Star, carried a savage attack against the United States.

The Red Star, which is published under Zhukov's direction, devoted one of its four pages July 19 to an incredible collection of photographs and stories devoted to one theme: That drunken, sexual, sadistic American troops were terrorizing U.S. — "occupied" nations throughout the world.

Red Star also told its half-million readers that U.S. commanders consider such conduct "normal, innocent fun" and refuse to take measures to prevent further outrages.

American troops stationed abroad, Red Star continued, "behave in an arrogant manner, as if they were living in American colonies. They humiliate and violate the dignity of local peoples."

Red Star's diatribe is the most savage of a series of attacks against the U.S. published in recent weeks.

It could hardly have come at a more inopportune time if the Soviet defense minister is as anxious to visit his "wartime friend" in the White House as he's represented to be.

Red Star's photographs depict recent anti-U.S. riots in Japan, as well as a restaurant sign reading: "No American served here." Others purported to show GI's, all drunk, staggering down streets of various foreign capitals.

The emphasis in the world roundup of stories involving GI's was on rape. Red Star charged that U.S. authorities, in order to silence the victims of GI's, had worked out an elaborate system of payoffs.

In West Germany, for example, Red Star said "The Yankees pay for their debaucheries in marks which they get from the West German budget, out of the pockets of their past and future victims."

Red Star claimed that more than 100,000 GI's were still "bossing" Japan, 12 years after the surrender, creating enormous indignation among the people "because of their never-ending murders, rapes and other crimes, most of which go unpunished."

Monday Morning Virus

By THOMAS R. HENRY

The majority of "common colds" may exist only in the mind.

This thesis is advanced by Dr. Robert J. Huebner, chief of the Public Health Service Laboratory of Infectious Diseases in a report just published.

The cold's cause has yet to be found, despite the most intensive search, he points out. Experiments with volunteers show that all the cold symptoms can be produced by suggestion alone.

COLDS USUALLY are attributed to a filterable virus. This, says Dr. Huebner, seems only an attempt on the part of the doctors to "explain an essentially unexplainable illness."

"In my opinion," Dr. Huebner reports, "the term 'common cold' requires considerable analysis. Recent work with volunteers has convinced some of us that a large number of so-called common colds are not due to viruses but to other factors, not the least of which are psychosomatic origin."

"The symptoms of the common cold have occurred in a high proportion of volunteers whether or not they received virus containing or virus-free materials."

"EVALUATION of some of these volunteers showed in psychological tests a rather significant association of high gullibility scores with complaints of upper respiratory illness."

"In fact, our observations in numerous volunteer studies indicate that susceptibility to suggestion represents a more powerful inciter of runny noses than any virus we have yet discovered."

"Innocuous control materials have remarkable effects in the apparent prevention and cure of colds."

"Recent studies of the occurrence of common colds in industry showed that a comparatively small number of industrial workers contributed most of the absenteeism attributable to common colds."

"IT IS DIFFICULT for a virologist to conceive of viruses behaving in so illogical a fashion."

"I might add, as the father of six children in school, I cannot escape the feeling that there is a very definite association of colds with Monday morning. Perhaps there is a Monday morning virus."

Uprising In The Shadows

(The owner of the New York Giants, one of the two or three most famed baseball clubs in America, has admitted the lack of better grounds and parking accommodations will probably force the club to go to the Pacific Coast.)

One of the clubs that pioneered big-league baseball under Jim Mutrie and the colorful John McGraw, the Giants have fans all over the U.S.—News item.)

"What? There's no room for the Giants! No place in the old home town! . . . Hear the roar from many voices As famed ghosts come rushing down! Hosts of greater days of glory When the fight was wild and raw, With a spectre in the foreground—Short and doughty 'Jawn' McGraw. 'Do I dream?' asks old Jim Mutrie; 'It's a gag,' cries Donlin (Mike); 'Not a home to house the Giants! Did you ever hear the like?' 'It's some nightmare, I am thinking, Bellows famed McGinnity;

"Sure they can't do this to us, men," Shout Welch, Brown and Slattery. Now a tall ghost comes a-runnin', His control for one time gone; It is "Christy the Immortal" Mathewson, the Mighty One; "On to Gotham on the double!" Is his clear resounding call. "If they send away the Giants They will have to lick us all!" John McGraw holds up a banner. . . . "We're The People," it proclaims As it did back in the eighties When they romped through bloody games; From the baseball world's Valhalla With huge ball bats in their fists Come the Bresnahan and Connors Rallying the fighting lists. Now the living join the onslaught. . . . Frankie Frisch and swift Mel Ott, Rube Marquard and Mize and Terry Give the battle all they've got; All are charging on Manhattan Making this their battle cry: "They just can't do this to us, boys! Move the Giants out, MY EYE!" All the old-time spell of baseball Seems to light up Coogan's Bluff There's a spirit well recaptured By the guys who had the "stuff"; Fans of other generations Line the hills to watch the fray And a prayer comes from sandlots, "Lord of Baseball, let 'em stay!"

TOP MEMBERS of the U.S. Supreme Court sailed to Europe on the Queen Mary the other day. . . . All managed to approve the journey without a dissent or separate opinion.

We hear a passenger on the ship, when told by the steward, "You ain't seasick; it's all a state of mind," replied quickly, "I'm appealing your decision to the high court."

A MARYLAND BEAUTY's disqualification, after winning a Miss America award, because she is married was strictly okay since the rules admit only single chicks, but why the rule? Ordinarily a gal who, despite marriage, two kids and housekeeping tasks, can keep her beauty sufficiently to win a championship, is worthy of special distinction in our book.

The decision is a sort of knock on matrimony and the home.

Of course, the young woman violated the rules, and the judges could do nothing but toss her out, gorgeous or not.

Billy Graham, the most dynamic evangelist in generations, has really taken New York in a big way. He is extending his campaign for three more weeks. . . . His packing of Yankee Stadium was terrific.

Not all creeds have supported Billy, which puzzles us. . . . We believe that any sincere, intelligent, dynamic thoroughly honest evangelist who stirs up widespread interest in things of the spirit and animates religious fervor is doing a grand job.

Labor's Six Codes

By AL HAYES

Today's guest column, by the president of the International Association of Machinists and chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, was written at the invitation of Victor Riesel who is enroute to Europe.

WASHINGTON
Dear Victor: Have a good vacation. I hope you enjoy it as much as I did mine. I'm just back from several weeks in the woods and lakes of northern Wisconsin, far from the charges and counter-charges, the recriminations and investigations which mark the Washington scene.

My companions were my wife and family, along with a few friendly neighbors.

My delight was in matching wits and skill with the northern and walleye pike and the muskies which offer a double reward — the thrill of the strike and the play and the catch, and the mouth-watering goodness they offer back in the cottage.

Right now I am convinced that labor's greatest collective bargaining achievement in recent years is the paid vacation, although, of course, a good pay envelope for the rest of the year is necessary to help pay the expenses.

Within the labor movement, more than in any other segment of our economic society, I suppose, the proper business of mankind is man, but there is no doubt in my mind that an occasional escape to the far-off woods, the uninterrupted companionship of family and friends and the thrill of outdoor sport, recondition a man and put him in better shape to pursue his proper business.

THEN, THERE IS the matter of perspective. All of us become so involved in the details of daily living and daily business that we sometimes develop an incomplete, and even an erroneous concept of where we are, where we have come from, and where we are heading.

Back at my desk now, I think I have a clearer picture in my own mind as to just what has been going on in the labor movement for the past twelve months.

It has been a hectic year, as you well know, Victor.

Yet it has been a year of proof and progress; proof of the innate strength of democratic organizations and processes, progress by the labor movement in strengthening the techniques of democracy within itself.

Have you ever stopped to think, Victor, how it came about that even in the darkest and most trying times of our Republic, no great national dictator has arisen among us to talk us into selling the birthright of freedom for the pottage of promised security?

The answer is simple, it seems to me: We are so imbued with the spirit of freedom that even the most desperate among us would think twice before risking the wrath of free men by trying to seize the reins of absolute power.

OH, WE HAVE had our petty area dictators and our political bosses, to be sure. They lived out their brief careers by catering to the chosen few and exploiting the downright political laziness of the many. But no great national leader has ever made the play for absolute power, even when conditions were most promising.

It has been the same way in the American labor movement. There have been men in positions of power at local, and even national union levels, who so forgot themselves and the cause they served as to place their own drive for power on their own personal interests first.

And there have been members who were willing to accept economic gains, sometimes real but more often merely alleged, at the price of surrendering their democratic rights as members of a free trade union.

Looking back over the past year in this perspective, the real triumph of the labor movement has been not in the dramatic dealings with a few erring unions and union officials but in the development of the six codes on ethical practices developed by the AFL-CIO.

DISCIPLINARY action against the erring few is testimony to the fact that there has been graft and corruption in the labor movement. The codes, however, are witness that the general standard of ethical conduct in the labor movement is high.

The fact is that the standards embodied in the six codes on ethical practices represent existing standards in the vast majority of American unions.

The need for the codes, like the need for the Ten Commandments, arose from sin.

But the codes, unlike the Decalogue, were not passed down from above. They were distilled from democratic and responsible principles and practices which have been developed by generations of organized American workers and women in their search for a strong and representative labor movement.

The codes, as you know, include standards for the administration of health and welfare funds, the issuance of union charters, the conduct of union officials, the banning of corruption, gangsterism, communism and fascism, the handling of union finances, and the preservation of democratic practices.

THEY ARE available by writing to the AFL-CIO, Washington 6, D.C. I hope many of your readers will get copies and read them.

I hope, too, that some of the organizations to which they belong, especially political parties, may be inspired to follow our example.

Again, Victor, have a good vacation. Yours will not be disturbed, I know, by published charges that you are neglecting your duty while sin runs rampant.

I wasn't really disturbed, either, for the basic work went on while I tried a new lure on the pikes and muskies.

The next regular meeting of the Salem Garden Club will be Sept. 23 at the Ruth Smucker House at 1:30 p.m. when there will be an election of officers.

On Monday, the Salem Garden Club toured Mill Creek Park. Lindley Vickers guided the group and showed slides of the birds in the park.

Each member took a box lunch and dessert and beverages were served by the committee comprised of Mrs. W. D. King, chairman; Mrs. Frederick Israel, Mrs. A. F. Kingsley, Mrs. L. P. Koenreich, Mrs. C. E. Kridle and Ms. Harry Krohne.

Safety Program Held By Garfield Grange

Robert McCracken presided at Wednesday night's meeting of Garfield Grange. An application for membership was received from Robert Flory.

The program theme was "Safety Makes Sense." Two songs, "Play the Safety Way" and "Happily We Ride Along," opened the program. Roll call was answered by naming an accident which happened in the past two weeks and a suggestion for its prevention.

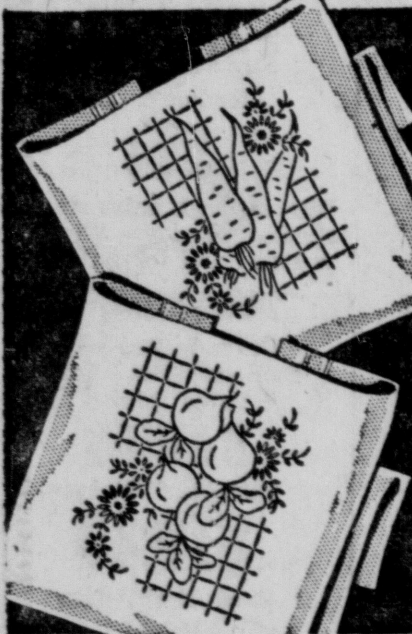

Poems, "Safety on the Farm," by Mrs. Allen Stanley and "Slow Down at 50," by Mrs. Florence Mather, were followed by discussions and charades on safety. "Be Courteous" was the closing song. The next meeting will be Aug. 14 in the grange hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stamp have returned home from Lansing, Mich., where they attended the national auctioneers convention for three days.

Mustard Sauce Flavors Beans

One fine way to dress up everyday green snap beans is to serve them with a scrumptiously smooth sauce. Egg yolks and milk produce the velvet texture of the sauce; dry mustard, pepper and lemon juice give it tang.

This sauce is one for would-be epicures (and well - established gourmets, too) to keep in their repertoire. It has many uses — not only with such other vegetables as cauliflower, broccoli and spinach — but we've found it delicious with broiled chicken and fish.

Snap Beans with Epicure Sauce
Ingredients: 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 egg yolks, 3/4 cup milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 pound whole green snap beans (freshly cooked and drained and hot), diced canned pimiento or fresh sweet red pepper (for garnish).
Method: Melt butter in a heavy saucepan (about 1 quart) over low heat. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, salt, white pepper and dry mustard thoroughly. Beat egg yolks slightly; add milk and beat enough to combine. Stir all at once into flour mixture. Cook and stir constantly over very low heat until slightly thickened and mixture will coat a silver spoon (as in custard); to not allow to boil. Stir in lemon juice off heat and pour over drained hot freshly cooked whole snap beans. Garnish with pimiento. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (Sauce may be reheated over hot water but should not be put over boiling water or allowed to boil).

Kitchen Notes
You will notice that the above recipe calls for white pepper; we suggest this to keep the sauce a good color. Ground white pepper is generally available; it is nothing more than black pepper berries (peppercorns) with the outer fibrous material removed.

Four Seek Columbiana Music Post

Little League To Remain Independent Organization

COLUMBIANA — The board of education has four applicants to consider for the post of instructor in instrumental music. Unless a special meeting is called, the board will make no selection until the regular meeting Aug. 12. The position was left vacant by the resignation of William H. Donegan.

THE COLUMBIANA Little Baseball League at a meeting Wednesday decided to remain independent instead of joining with a neighboring league. They also made plans for a more complete organization next year.

It was decided to make the age limit 8-13 next year instead of the present 8-12. Some of the team members this year would be over age in 1958 and thus bringing them nearer eligibility for the Junior American Legion League.

Officials will attempt next year to buy more equipment and to enlist more community support. The four teams of the league will be designated as one, Giants; two, Reds; three, Pirates; and four, Braves. Ralph Goist and Wayne Fair will be umpires.

The Giants will play the Braves and the Reds, the Pirates at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

FTC Plans 'Tougher' Attitude Toward Cigarette Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission said today it is adopting a tougher attitude toward cigarette advertising claims in the light of possible links between smoking and lung cancer.

Acting FTC Chairman, Robert T. Secrest told House investigators that a formal Public Health Service statement July 12 dealing with smoking and health "calls for a fresh approach" to the job of protecting the tobacco industry.

ney. The meeting was arranged at Lloyd's request. No details were disclosed but a Foreign office spokesman said the Americans are being kept closely informed of developments in Oman and Muscat.

Press dispatches from the British base at Sharjah, in the Persian Gulf, said returning pilots claimed the Nizwa fort appeared deserted when they attacked it Thursday.

British officials in Bahrain were awaiting the return of Sir Bernard Burrows, Britain's political resident officer for the Persian Gulf, from conferences with Sultan Said Bin Taimur in Muscat.

It was expected that when Burrows returns it will be determined how far Britain will go to crush the rebellion.

"If Britain fails to put down this revolt," one Briton commented, "we will be finished in the Persian Gulf."

In addition to the strategic value of the area, Britain has immense oil wealth in the region.

"That's why," the Briton said, "this little tribal fighting has gained so much attention."

The rebels began their attacks in the rugged Muscat and Oman territory last week.

The Sultan's troops are led by British officers but there was no indication that any other British ground forces have been in action.

He spent some 10 years in prison or exile.

France and Tunisia signed an agreement recognizing Tunisia's independence in March 1956, but its terms provided for keeping French troops in this country for defense.

Bourguiba now is fighting to have all troops removed except for a small force at the naval station of Bizerte.

Bourguiba also is fighting the French on another point—Algeria. He put Tunisia solidly behind the nationalist movement of "our Algerian brothers."

Because of Tunisia's open aid and comfort to the Algerian rebels, France has withheld its promised financial assistance, which Tunisia needs badly.

Bourguiba is a Moslem but broke with factions which wanted to organize his nation along fanatically Moslem lines.

Bourguiba has told reporters he wants to "make Tunisia a Western style democracy tied to the West."

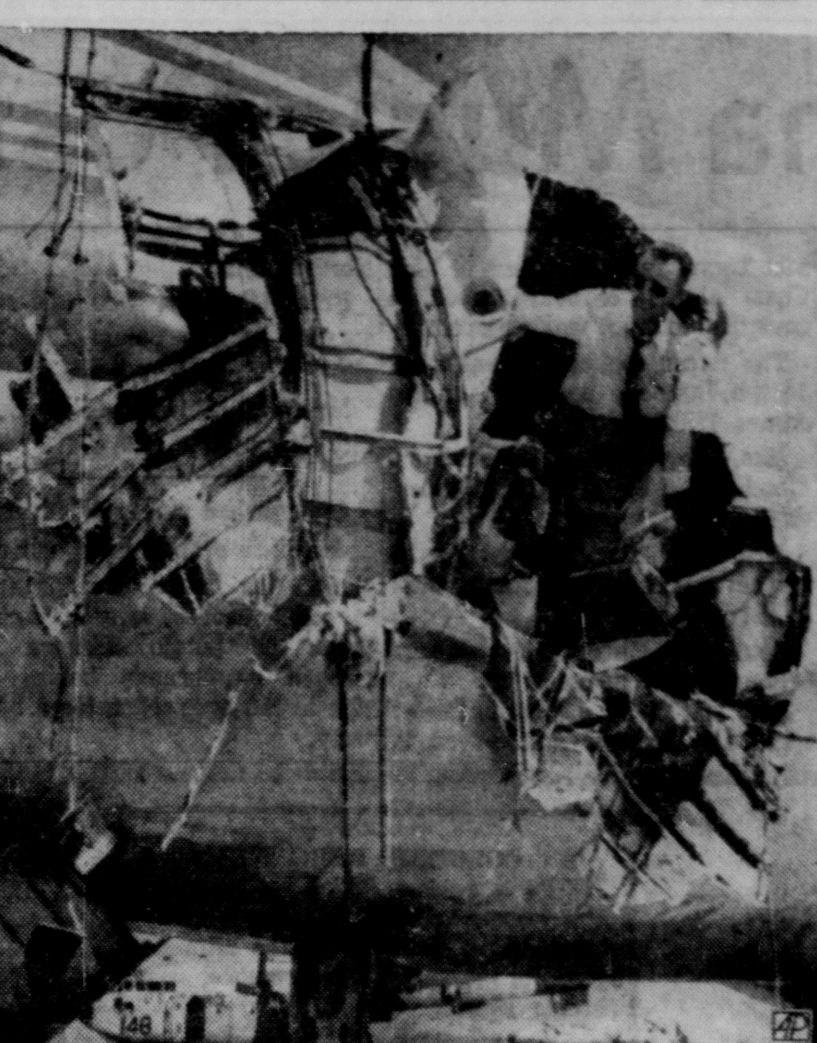

"I may have to zig and zag along the route," he said, "but I always keep my eye on that objective."

Juvenile Gets Hearing In Lisbon Theft Case
LISBON — A 17-year-old Washington, Pa., youth had a hearing before Judge Louis Tobin Thursday in connection with a theft here.

Judge Tobin continued the case until Monday after he learned that the youth was on probation from Washington and also was under bond.

The Washington, Pa. youth was cited for picking up money belonging to the Peter Pan Cleaners on N. Market Street. Police said he accompanied the pickup driver for the Peter Pan Cleaners and picked up the loose money when they made the delivery. The driver, Chester Lipinski, was fined $100 and costs and was sentenced to 15 days in jail by Mayor Wilbur Warren Wednesday, after charges were filed by Jules A. Arian, Peter Pan executive.

of Gov. Leader came into office. The commission formerly had been under Republican control.

Involved in the trial debate were technical engineering opinions on what was the right way and what the wrong way to fill in old mine voids and prevent future cave-ins along an eastern Pennsylvania section of the turnpike.

Used To Fleece Commission
The state contended a contract awarded Manu-Mine in February 1955 was used by the nine defendants to fleece the commission and gain a 100 per cent profit for the firm through "made work."

Manu-Mine was hired to fill subsurface mine voids beneath a six-mile section of the right-of-way of the turnpike extension in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties. The contract was suspended in February 1959 and the work taken over by the State Mines Department.

Defense attorneys immediately announced they would seek a new trial and Judge Homer L. Kreider gave them 10 days to file formal motions. He ordered each of the five to post $1,000 bail within 10 days and delayed sentencing.

Manu-Mine drilled more than 60,000 feet of holes to reach the mine voids with fill beneath the extension. It asked 8 1/2 million dollars for the work and had received $6,700,000 when the contract was canceled.

The prosecution, handled by Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling, a Republican, and Special Dep. Atty. Gen. Vincent G. Panati, a Democrat, maintained the firm had intended to continue the work until it had received 19 1/2 millions. The contract was open-ended, with Manu-Mine charging the commission $12.50 a foot for the holes that were drilled.

The cheating by false pretense convictions carry maximum penalties of $5,000 fines and five-year prison terms. The conspiracy convictions carry penalties of $500 fines and two-year terms.

Man Blasts Estranged Wife, Self To Death
PITTSBURGH (AP)—An explosives expert blasted himself and his estranged wife to death in their parked auto Thursday night. The explosion also claimed the life of an 8-year-old girl happily licking an ice cream bar.

Seven other passers-by were injured in the blast, which rocked the North Side business section about one mile from midtown.

The dead are Arthur DePew, 29, his wife Elaine, 18, and Linda Kraus.

DePew, a blaster for a construction firm on a sewage tunnel project here, parked his car just a few minutes before he met his wife in a prearranged reconciliation attempt. The couple talked a few minutes, entered the car and then came the blast.

Ass. Police Supt. Lawrence Maloney said, "There's no question about it — it's a clear case of murder and suicide."

Prosecutor Seeks Change of Venue In Fairmount Partition

A motion for a change of venue in a pending Stark County court action to determine the partition of the Fairmount Children's Home, owned by Stark and Columbiana Counties, has been filed by Columbiana County commissioners.

The action, filed by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, claims a fair and impartial trial in the dispute cannot be given in Stark County because of newspaper publicity and adverse editorial comment.

The partition action was filed earlier this year by Stark County when the officials of the two counties could not come to agreement on the sale of the home.

Stark County has been seeking to purchase the Columbiana County share when Columbiana—which has not had children at the home for several years—refused to help pay for repairs.

The change of venue motion states the judges of Stark County are residents of that county and therefore would have an interest in the matter. The case is pending in the court of Common Pleas Judge Paul G. Weber, who is on vacation. A hearing on the motion will be set when he returns.

The Partition action would determine the amount of the ownership shared by the counties, clearing the way for a sale of the home and land at Alliance.

The prosecutor's motion did not say in which other Ohio county he seeks to have the case tried.

Mutual Broadcasting System Is Sold
NEW YORK (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System has been sold to a group of Pacific Coast businessmen and broadcasters for an undisclosed price.

Announcement of the sale was made Thursday. Trade sources said the network, in existence since 1934, lost $400,000 last year.

The purchasing group is headed by Paul Roberts of Los Angeles, who will take over as network president Aug. 7. B. J. Hauser, former Mutual vice president, will become executive vice president.

Roberts is general manager of KRKD-FM of Los Angeles.

Roberts said the purchasing group includes Armand Hammer, president of Occidental Petroleum Corp. of Los Angeles, and Roy Roberts, an Ojai, Calif., realtor and oil operator.

Mutual has 480 affiliated stations, but owns no stations itself.

UNDERGROUND ORGAN

Sprinkle plays the electronic stalactite organ for visitors.

MOST persons have heard a conventional organ, but few have listened to the music from an organ whose pipes are made of stalactites. Stalactites are the natural limestone formations suspended like icicles from the ceilings of caverns. This unique stalactite organ is found in the "Ballroom" of the caverns at Luray, Va. This organ is the largest in the world and still growing, for it can be made to include all tunable stalactites in the 64-acre caverns. Leland Sprinkle, an electronic scientist at the Pentagon, spent three years in developing it. The stalactites were ground with aluminum oxide sanding discs. A set of English tuning forks and precision oscillators formed the precise tonal effects. Once tuned, the hard rocks remain tuned and maintain a constant fifty-four degrees. The console of the organ was especially constructed to meet those peculiar specifications.

Organ can be played automatically by chassis.

By grinding, which raises the pitch, stalactites have tonal qualities improved.

Fowler Allows Seven Hits, Smacks In Two Runs

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today are only a game out of first place but the third spot in the National League standing is of immediate concern as the Brooklyn Dodgers move in for a three-game series.

The Dodgers, beaten by St. Louis Thursday night while the Reds whipped Pittsburgh, 9-1, are one percentage point ahead of the fourth-place Reds so the series here becomes all-important.

Manager Birdie Tebbets, profiting from two consecutive complete game pitching performances by Joe Nuxhall and Art Fowler, will have a well rested pitching staff ready for the Dodgers. Hal Jeffcoat is due to pitch tonight against young Danny McDevitt.

Friday night's game with Pittsburgh was a breeze as Fowler, only recently elevated to the role of a starting pitcher, went the full route for the first time and held the Bucks to seven hits.

Only in the eighth was he in any serious trouble and he got out of that after the first three men up had singled for Pittsburgh's only run. The 34-year-old right-hander also helped his own cause by knocking in the Reds' first runs with a single in the second after two walks and a single by Don Hoak had loaded the bases.

After that, Fowler's mates pitched in to give him more runs as

Lions, Packers Complete Deal

Six Players Involved In Startling Trade

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers have completed a six-player trade that brings quarterback Tobin Rote and defensive halfback Val Joe Walker to the Detroit club.

The Packers in turn receive linemen Jim Salsbury, Oliver Spencer and Norm Masters, along with sophomore halfback Don McIlhenny.

Word of the deal leaked out late Thursday night when Detroit Coach Buddy Parker called Rote's home in Bellaire, Tex., to inform Rote of the trade. But Rote, a seven-year veteran who led the National Football League in nearly every passing department last season, was already on his way to the Packers training camp in Stevens Point, Wis.

Although the Packers, who finished fourth in the Western Conference last season, needed help in the line, it was a startling transaction from the Detroit viewpoint. Rote, 29-year-old former Rice star who threw 18 touchdown passes in 1956, will join another Texan, Bobby Layne, and second-year man Jerry Reichow in the Detroit quarterback spot.

Senators Score 3-2 Victory Over Tribe

Mike Garcia Gives Up
3 Runs, 9 Hits,
4 Walks

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will be fighting to stay out of the American League's second division when they open a four-game series with the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park tonight.

In 13 games with the Red Sox this year the Indians have won seven. But of the five games played at Fenway Park the Tribe has won only two.

Only a half-game ahead of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, the Indians looked unimpressive as they dropped two games of a three-game series with last place Washington.

The Senators won the final game with a 3-2 come-from-behind victory in Washington Thursday. Ed Fitzgerald's 10th inning pinch-hit single scored Roy Sievers from second base with the winning run.

The game-winning hit came at the expense of Bud Daley who relieved starter Mike Garcia in the 10th. Garcia was charged with the loss, his sixth in 10 decisions.

Garcia gave up all three Washington runs and was tapped for nine hits and four walks before leaving the game.

The Indians broke on top scoring a run in the first inning and another in the second.

Larry Raines was the first batter to face Washington's Russ Kemmerer and doubled to left field. Gene Woodling followed with a two-bagger off the right field wall, scoring Raines. Kemmerer walked Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito, loading the bases, but Bobby Avila flied out to end the inning.

In the second, Garcia attempted to sacrifice Jim Hegan, who had doubled, to third base. Kemmerer fielded the bunt and threw wild, Garcia going all the way to second and Hegan scoring. After Garcia was picked off second, Al Smith singled, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. He was stranded there when Vic Wertz grounded out.

The Senators got back into the ball game in the second when Sievers worked Garcia for a walk, took second on a passed ball by Hegan and scored on Rocky Bridges' single.

A home run by Jim Lemon tied the score in the fifth.

After the fifth inning Kemmerer had little trouble until the ninth when Raines led off with a double, his second of the game. Smith sent Bob Usher into deep center field for a fly ball. Raines taking third. Woodling grounded out and Wertz popped out ending the scoring threat.

Lemon's sharp grounder which bounced off the side of Garcia's face went for a single in the tenth. Sievers forced Lemon and after Clint Courtney singled, Garcia left the game in favor of Daley.

Fitzgerald singled to end the game.

Don Mossi has been picked to hurl for the Indians tonight with Willard Nixon opposing him for Boston.

Mickey Wright Bobby Siska Is West Coast Leads In Golf Tourny Tennis Champion At 14

DETROIT (AP)—Lanky Mickey Wright, one of the top young lady golf professionals, credits a couple of recent tips from veteran Louise Suggs with turning her into "a sensible golfer."

The 22-year-old Miss Wright played sensibly enough Thursday to take a one-stroke lead into the second round of the $7500 Wolverine Ladies' Open Tournament at nearby Lochmoor.

The young Californian's 70, five under par at Lochmoor Club that plays at 37-38-75 for the ladies, was one stroke better than Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Vannie Colby, a frequent Michigan amateur champion now playing out of Miami Beach, Fla.

Another youngster, 23-year-old Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., one of the top money winners last year, was still another stroke back with a 35-37-72.

Miss Merian Bailey, national intercollegiate women's champion and recent winner of the Western Amateur, tied with Betty Jameson of San Antonio and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, each with 73s.

FAN BETS $22,000

VERNON, N. Y. (AP)—A harness racing fan bet $22,000 to show on Torpid at Vernon Downs Thursday night. He got the money back plus a profit of $1,100 after Torpid won and paid $2.60, $2.40 and $2.10.

The identity of the bettor was not disclosed by the track official who revealed the big show wager.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Bobby Siska first started playing tennis seven years ago he wore a size 1 1/2 shoe.

Now he's a size 11. And at 14, the good-looking lefty with the crew-cut is moving down the opposition just as he did as a beginner.

At 7, a 60-pounder standing 4 1/2 feet, he won the San Francisco boys 11 and under singles crown. He's now 5-foot-8 and 140 pounds and the national 15 and under hard courts champ.

Last year he won the boys title in the National Western. He's got a flock of other tournament crowns — about 100 — and the trophies to prove it.

Just how good is this high school sophomore who beats many of the good adult players and gets rave notices whenever he plays?

"I've seen a lot of tennis players in 55 years in the game and Bobby tops them all for his age," says James B. Moffet, a U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. official and the president of the Northern California Tennis Assn.

"It's not only his physical ability. He thinks like a man and has intense concentration. That's rare for a boy his age."

Moffet points out that Bob, a straight A student, has "great anticipation on the course—a faculty of knowing where his opponent is going to hit the ball." The veteran official adds that the lad is a power hitter with a well-rounded game, "so sound that he makes a minimum of errors."

Bob plays baseball and a little golf, but there's no question that tennis is his game. He's a year-round player, and when he can't get on a court, he'll practice shadow stroking in his home. Good way to improve, he says.

It's this extra work and concentration that Moffet thinks will lead Bob to the top a Fores Hills, Wimbledon and the Davis Cup team.

"I saw Vinnie Richards when he was the boy wonder of tennis years ago," Moffet says. "He wasn't as good as Bob. Neither was Frank Parker."

"The boy hits out and covers the court well when he has to. He uses a great deal of strategy, has patience and is a good competitor. He's quiet, even-tempered and doesn't blow up like you'd expect from a lad his age."

"I can't see how he can miss the Davis Cup squad in three or four more years."

Bobby Siska

Paul Brown Determined To Be On Top

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Coach Paul Brown welcomed his Cleveland Browns to training camp Thursday with the announcement that players will be fined $500 for going out after bed check, and $50 for non-excused absences from meals.

"I'm determined that this organization will be back on top of the heap," Brown said. The Browns failed to win a division championship for the first time in 12 years last season. They finished fourth behind the New York Giants, Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins.

"There was very little difference between us and the New York Giants," Brown told the players. "Not everyone played with a full heart."

The coach said he will demand an all-out effort this season and "players must keep in shape." Then he announced the fines for breaking the training rules.

A total of 57 men are battling for 35 positions on the squad. There are 33 at camp now, including 32 rookies, 19 members of last year's team, and halfbacks Billy Reynolds and Chet Hanulak, members of the 1954 championship team who are out of the service. Four rookies—tackles Henry Jordan and Paul Wiggins, center Joe Amstutz and fullback Jim Brown—are training with the College All-Stars.

The squad must be cut to 43 players by Sept. 3, to 38 by Sept. 15 and to 35 by Sept. 24. The first exhibition game is Aug. 14 in Detroit. The Browns open the regular season Sept. 29 against New York at Cleveland.

Questions and Answers

It is quite natural for some people to fear operations more than others.

Q — Could you say something which would give me a better outlook on a coming removal of my tonsils? I am petrified with fear of it, but feel it should be done.

A — The point is, I think, that a tonsillectomy when properly performed, carries little risk. If needed, the patient should develop a philosophy that he or she will feel much better after the operation is done and that the discomfort will last only a short time.

Q — My daughter, who is now in her seventh month of pregnancy, loves dogs very much. She has two cocker spaniels and fusses with them and permits them to sleep on her bed and hugs them while she is resting. I too like dogs, but I feel at this time my daughter shouldn't handle them so much. I have convinced her to handle them less and not hug them so much. She used to do this for hours at a time.

A — There might be some risk, I think, of acquiring infection from the dogs, particularly a parasitic disease. However, the behavior of your daughter toward her dogs is certainly unusual and I think she should be urged to take a more normal attitude towards her pets as well as towards everything else.

Q — Please say something about chronic mastitis. I should like to know what causes this trouble and what is the best way to relieve it.

A — By definition this means a chronic inflammation of the glandular tissue of the breast. In a few cases the source of infection or irritation can be traced, but in the majority of cases the cause cannot be identified. In one of the common varieties known as chronic cystic mastitis, small lumps form in the breast. These usually cannot be told apart from a small cancer. Hence the customary procedure is to have such a lump removed and examined under the microscope. Chronic cystic mastitis, if present, generally subsides around the time of change of life.

Q — Does mental illness have any connection with a virus infection?

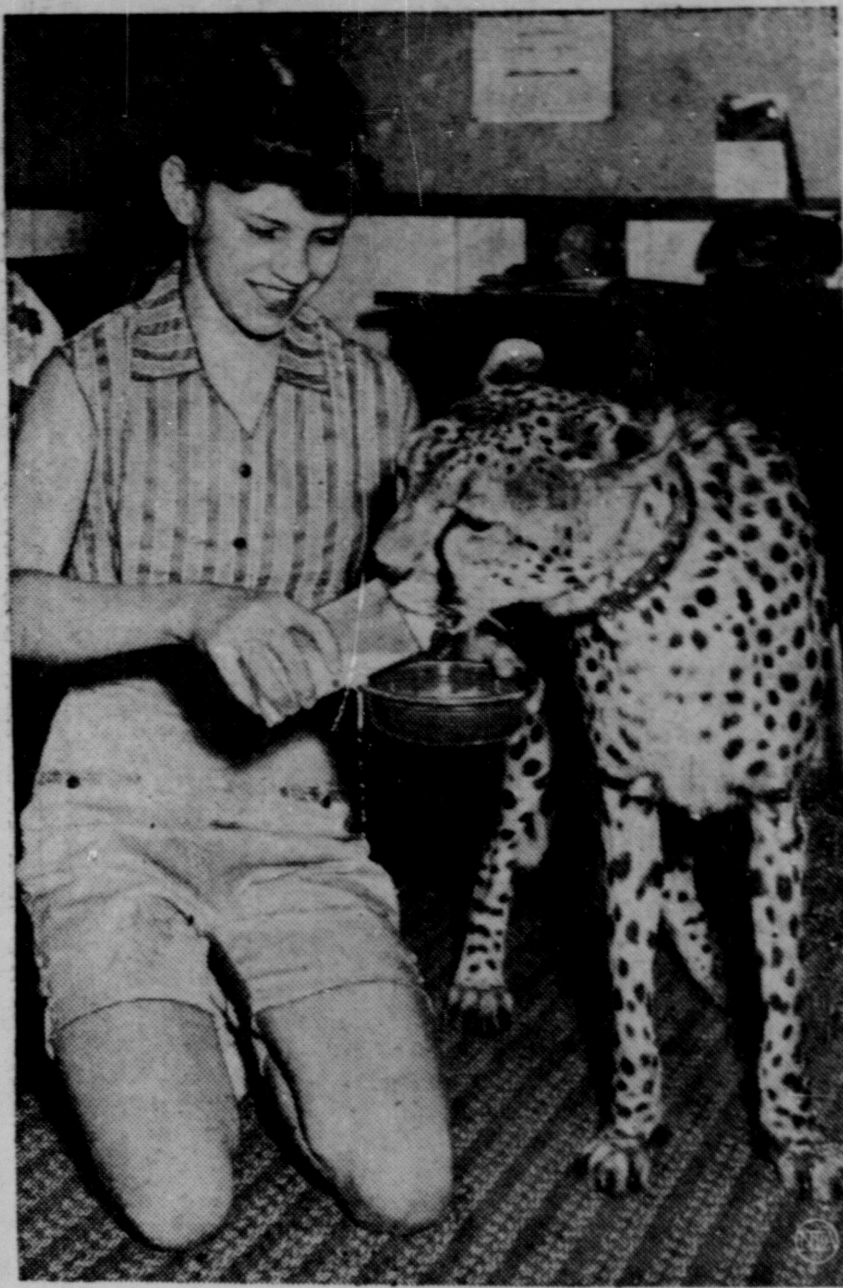

A — Most varieties of mental illness cannot be traced to a virus infection. There is little reason to believe that there is any connection, with the possible exception of mental difficulty following encephalitis or brain fever.

EARNINGS INCREASE

CINCINNATI — The U.S. Playing Card Co., reported today its net earnings for the first six months of 1957 were $1,052,719. In the same period last year they were $986,677. The 1957 earnings were equivalent to $2.73 a common share as compared with $2.56 last year.

THESE 'CATS' ARE THEIR CATS—David Snowdon, left, of Memphis, Tenn., plays with "Dandy Lion," a six-month-old, 60-pound family pet, who is becoming a little bit of a problem around the house. David and "Dandy Lion" hit it off perfectly but the latter just keeps on growing, so David wants to give him away if he can. Elizabeth Green, 12, has no trouble at all getting her pet "cat" to drink his milk. "Caesar," a 140-pound tamed cheetah from Tanganyika, laps up the milk at high speed in the girl's Fairlee, Vt., home. Elizabeth's father, big game hunter Bill Green, plans to have "Caesar" perform at his rare bird and animal farm in Fairlee. Cheetahs are supposed to be the world's fastest animals and "Caesar" has proven it. He's been clocked at 72.3 m.p.h.

Mrs. Mary Ennis Sued By Loser

BALTIMORE — Mary Leona Gage Ennis, whose big lie bounced her out of the Miss Universe contest and into a treasure trove, has been sued for $30,000 by the blonde beauty she defeated for the right to represent Maryland in the contest.

Mary Callie Hill, the defeated beauty, also sued the sponsor of the Miss Maryland Pageant, the Walters Academy and Fashion Guild, Inc.

Mrs. Ennis won the Miss U.S.A. title in Long Beach, Calif., last week and was among the semi-finalists for the Miss Universe title when word leaked out that she was married. The publicity brought her night club, television and movie offers.

"I think it was downright mean of that woman to cheat me of the big chance," Miss Hill said. "I have no Hollywood tryouts or night club offers."

Her suit was filed through her mother in Superior Court.

The suit alleged that Mrs. Ennis and the sponsors "fraudulently schemed to conceal the fact" that Mrs. Ennis was married. The scheming, she said, cost her the trophy, the trip to the Miss U.S.A. contest, an automobile, a $1,000 wardrobe and the screen test which she said the Miss Maryland sponsors promised the winner.

Discuss Integration Of Fire, Police Units

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — Professional city managers are primarily responsible for the move to combine municipal fire and police departments, delegates to the 47th annual convention of the Ohio Fire-chiefs Assn. were told here Thursday night.

R. Bruce Holmgren, executive officer of the Illinois, and the Northeast Illinois Fire-chiefs Assn. said that city managers who urge integration of both departments are forming judgements from information prepared outside the fire and police protection fields.

"The typical municipal manager is not an engineer," he said, "but a professional manager. He has been trained in administration. His knowledge of other departments, especially the line departments of a city, stems largely from what somebody taught him in school, what he reads in literature, and what he learns from department heads he works with."

Defending integration of the two departments was G. S. Leonard, safety director of Oak Park, Mich. where the two forces are now operating as one department.

He said integration has resulted in a shorter work week for men on the force, and has reduced taxes by about $56,000 annually.

Today's session will be devoted to discussions of civil defense, and officers will be elected at Saturday's concluding meeting.

George L. Schlotterbeck, fire chief at Hamilton, is slated to succeed Firechief Carl Whitman of Doylestown as association president.

Space Missiles New Problem In Arms Talks

LONDON — Space missiles loomed today as another major barrier to agreement in the U.S. disarmament talks.

East and West appeared to be split again over how to insure that objects sent flying off into outer space do not fly on warlike missions.

Harold E. Stassen, U. S. delegate to the five-nation disarmament subcommittee, proposed Thursday that a scientific committee be set up to work out ways to see that all research on outer-space missiles is confined to peaceful purposes. He said the committee should start work within three months of the signing of a first-stage disarmament agreement.

Following his usual practice, Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin did not immediately accept or reject the proposal. He said it would be studied. But Zorin in the past has consistently rebuffed suggestions that disarmament study committees be set up and has demanded instead that the West agree to Soviet proposals for halting all nuclear weapon tests immediately for a two-or three-year period.

Zorin similarly proposed on April 30 that all nuclear powers renounce forever both the use of nuclear weapons and guided missiles of all ranges capable of carrying nuclear warheads.

Stassen's proposal dealt only with long-range or outer-space missiles.

Chrysler Earnings Increase Tremendously

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. Thursday reported net earnings of $89,740,757 for the first six months of 1957 compared with net of $18,671,471 in the like period of last year.

The figures emphasize one of the most phenomenal comebacks in American automotive history. The earnings for this year's January-June half were equal to $10.28 per share; for the same period last year they amounted to $2.14 per share.

HORSE, BOAT COLLIDE

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. — A horse and a boat collided at a street intersection in this Kansas City suburb Thursday.

Patrolman Bob Shaw said the horse, with William G. Rhea, 16, aboard, galloped through a stop sign and collided broadside with a trailer on which Alonzo Betts was towing his outboard motor boat.

Rhea fell off the horse but was unhurt. The boat went into a ditch. The horse began grazing on a nearby lawn. Betts estimated the damage to his boat at $400.

Prehistoric Tusk Found In Kentucky

BURLINGTON, Ky. — A prehistoric tusk more than five feet long, believed to have been buried "at least 8,000 years," was found Thursday on a farm owned by Boone County Judge C. L. Cropper.

The tusk was found in the Big Bone Springs area where bones of prehistoric mammoths and mastodons are believed to be buried. It was found by members of the Society.

Northern Kentucky Archeological Ellis Crawford, curator of the William Behringer Memorial Museum of Covington said the ivory tusk probably was that of a primogenus or woolly mammoth. He said rings on the tusk indicated the animal was about 16 years old at the time of death.
